NORVAL FOUNDATION

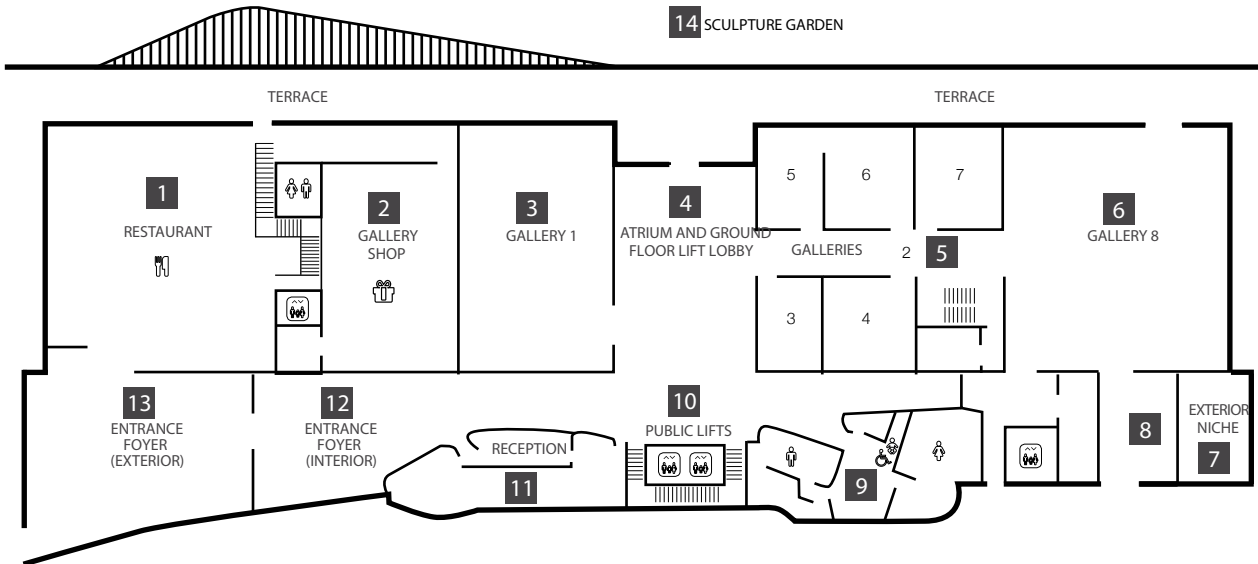

INTRODUCTION

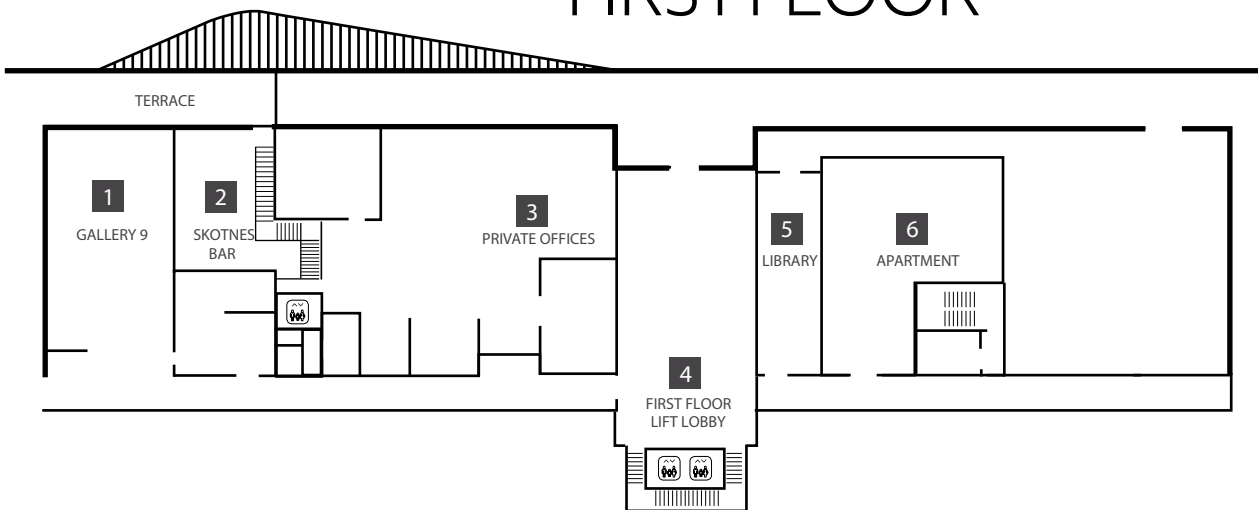

Norval Foundation's event spaces offer unlimited possibilities. It was designed to include adaptive spaces that can be transformed to align the needs of each event. From the very first glimpse of Norval Foundation, set in the heart of the Steenberg wine region, one can sense the ambition of the project. By stepping inside the venue, one understands that you are surrounded by the art that has shaped our world. Africa's history is indelibly intertwined with each space. The Foundation runs the gamut of artistic endeavour, from Irma Stern's Arab, and Cecil Skotnes' Head Study, to Gerard Marx and William Kentridge's Fire Walker, among hundreds of other works. The Norval Foundation is honoured to be the custodians of the Gerard Sekoto Foundation, Edoardo Villa Estate Collection, and the Alexis Preller Archive.

Norval Foundation's Art Museum and Sculpture Garden occupy a site that is of environmental and ecological importance. This sensitive wetland site had over many years deteriorated into a wasteland of invader species of plants. The development of this site has brought about renewal and regeneration of the wetland by removing all alien and invasive plant species. These areas have been sensitively replanted by Keith Kirsten International, with indigenous flora that is local to the area. The adjoining seven residential platforms will be landscaped using the same principles.
